

Each injection point is tested against its own signal-free permutation control, its own lookahead oracle, and a static arm whose turnover penalty is solved to match its realised trading.